

DRAFT STATEMENT OF WORK

Services – Specialized Training request

Introduction

Northern Navajo Medical Center (NNMC) Administration request proposals to facilitate training sessions focusing on the development and implementation of performance-based acquisition and contracting techniques.

Background

While NNMC's acquisition team maintains a high volume of contract output, the recent influx of new support staff, combined with high turnover, has created a need for targeted training on standard contracting procedures. To ensure compliance and efficiency, it is requested that specialized training, specifically focusing on "Writing Performance Work Statements" be implemented as a key component of our staff development plan.

Scope

NNMC Administration is requesting that most acquisition support staff attend specialized Performance Work Statement (PWS) training. The goal is to ensure all staff leave with a thorough, practical understanding of PWS development. We require on-site training to utilize in-house computer labs (23 stations). Due to the high number of attendees, we are requesting five separate 3-day sessions to be scheduled over separate weeks.

Technical Requirements

Training attendees will gain the ability to articulate the strategic importance of PWS in acquisition. They will learn to draft, analyze, and finalize comprehensive PWS documents – including problem statements and project visions, while mastering the development of clear requirements and understanding the direct impact of precise PWS language on project success.

The Contractor will facilitate an engaging learning experience through blended training methods, including expert instruction, interactive workshops, hands-on demonstrations, and relevant, evidence-based case studies and resources.

The Contractor shall submit all training materials, including website links, curriculum, and literature, no later than 3-4 weeks prior to each scheduled training date.

The Contractor will partner with the Contracting Representative Officer (COR) to validate initial student attendance numbers and verify daily attendance records.

Upon completion of the training, the contractor will issue a certificate and award Continuous Learning Points to all attendees.
