Subject: Request for Information (RFI) – AI Installation Lodging Optimization

GENERAL INFORMATION

Description:

The 773rd ESS at JBSA Lackland, Texas, seeks feedback from companies/entities capable of providing an AI Installation Lodging Optimization application.

Background: (Per Performance Work Statement)

1.1 Air Force Installation and Mission Support Center (AFIMSC) needs to improve its understanding of lodging and housing readiness across its global portfolio of installations. Today, the process is manual and relies on fragmented data, creating risks for capacity planning and deployment preparedness.

The AI Installation Optimization Application should address this problem. The solution will securely integrate authoritative enterprise systems (e.g., ADVANA BLADE, ENVISION) to produce accurate pattern-of-life and utilization insights. It will allow planners to use natural-language querying to assess lodging capacity, building conditions, and other factors. Furthermore, it will introduce forward-looking scenario modeling to support budget prioritization. This will enable faster assessments, smarter deployment planning, quicker decision-making, and better funding alignment with installation requirements and emerging bed down needs.
