Description

The Air Force Life Cycle Management Center (AFLCMC), Aerial Networks Division (AFLCMC/C3NE), at Hanscom AFB, MA, has a requirement to procure commercially available Satellite Simulator hardware in support of the Tactical Data Networks (TDN) Lab tech refresh project.

This notice constitutes the formal synopsis of this requirement in accordance with FAR Subpart 5.2. In accordance with FAR 5.203(a)(1) for the acquisition of commercial products, the formal solicitation is being issued concurrently with this synopsis.

The purpose of this effort is to procure specialized equipment to replace aging assets. The contractor shall provide some or all of the following three (3) types of systems, including all necessary accessories and warranties, meeting the salient characteristics detailed in the solicitation:

1. Multichannel UHF MUOS Satellite Emulator: Capable of emulating MUOS system operations (up to 4 simultaneous call service legs, U2B/B2U direction operating frequencies).
2. Multichannel UHF DAMA/IW Satellite Emulator: Capable of emulating IW or DAMA system operations (including frequency translation, propagation delay, and thermal noise) and fully interoperable with specified cryptographic equipment (KY-57, KY-100, KIV-7).
3. GPS Satellite Emulator: Capable of providing real-time emulation of GNSS environments, including GPS (with M-Code) and GLONASS signals, as well as jamming and spoofing simulation.
