INTRODUCTION

Response to this Request for Information (RFI) may be used to formulate final requirements and/or to identify qualified vendors capable of meeting those requirements. The description below outlines preliminary requirements envision for Security Identification Gear. The preliminary requirement includes apparel, alternation services, embroidery services, silk screening services, 3M reflective material, gear bags, and a website. The information gathered from responses may be used to formulate acquisition strategies for competitive solicitations.

BACKGROUND

The Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) is conducting market research and seeking information regarding available vendors that can provide the necessary items in the attached list, a website, as well as provide embroidery, silk screening, alteration services and 3M reflective material. While this RFI is not a request for proposal or quote, the FBI intends to utilize data received from this RFI to assist in formulating final requirements for an upcoming request for an upcoming request for quote (RFQ).

The FBI requests that vendors review the preliminary requirements herein. The preliminary requirements do not necessarily represent the final specifications; rather, these highlight areas of interest and feedback from industry partners may help to shape final requirements.

PROPOSED SALIENT CHARACTERISTICS/REQUIREMENTS

The FBI is seeking vendors that can provide all items in the attached list, a website as well as provide embroidery, silk screening, alteration services and 3M reflective material meeting the following characteristics/requirements:

- Provide items with a delivery lead time of 30 days
- Provide a website for online ordering with the below specs:
 - General Requirements:
 - The ability to have allotment management and update balances as items are added to the cart and ordered

- The ability to bulk order management and capability
- The ability to store order history and tracking for the life of the contract, both at the individual level and the contract level
- The ability to have select administrators who can add, update, and remove users, edit profiles, and update allotments
- The ability to utilize username and password to only allow authorized FBI personnel access
- The ability to create custom packages, this includes creating user accounts that will only see specific packages
- The ability to set a dollar amount per order
- The ability to have an approval chain built in so the FBI can approve orders prior to submission
- The ability to have the capability to notify select approving officials via email of pending order approvals
- User Accounts:
 - The ability to have two (2) user account types – a standard user and an administrative user
 - Standard user accounts would have the ability to browse, place orders, track orders, and add, edit, and delete items from a shopping cart
 - Administrative user accounts would, in addition to having all standard user account abilities, have the ability to review all purchase activity across the website, to include generating reports, and monitoring account activity across all accounts
- Home Page:
 - The ability to only display items in the Attachment 1 – Product List
 - The ability to sort, filter, and display products by category (footwear, shirts, pants, shorts, gloves, outerwear, removable panel packs and bags)
 - The ability to display clear and accurate pictures of each item
- Product Pages:
 - Upon selecting an individual product, users would be brought to a new page where the product's following details would be provided
 - Image of product on a model, with view from front and back
 - Manufacturer
 - Model/Part Number
 - Available Color(s)
 - Availability/Back-order Status
 - Approximate Delivery Lead Time

- Price
- Product Specifications
- Product Description
- Add to Cart Functionality, to include selection of the quantity
 - Prior to adding an item to the cart, users would have the ability to specify the following details: color, as indicated in Column E of Attachment 1 – Product List, and sizing measurements, as indicated in Column F of Attachment 1 – Product List.
- The website would be accessible twenty-four (24) hours per day, seven (7) days per week, via the internet. The website would be similar in form and function to commercial consumer online retail ordering websites. Therefore, there would be tabbed product categories, a “shopping cart” experience, ability to search for products, account maintenance, and an order status page.
- Garment Customization
 - The ability to customize garments by embroidery, Thermoplastic Polyurethane (TPU) logo, silk screening, heat transferred reflective material, and Direct to Film printing (DTF). Also, have the ability to provide additional customization on garments if requested.
