SECTION 1

1.0 DESCRIPTION OF SERVICES

1.1 General. The Air Force Judge Advocate Field Operating Agency (AF/JA FOA), commanded by a Major General, provides administrative support to the four Directorates for the Headquarters Air Force Judge Advocate General (JAG) Corps. The four Directorates are the Military Justice and Discipline Directorate, Operational and International Law Directorate, Civil Law and Litigation Directorate, and Leadership Directorate. The four Directorates provide legal services to Air and Space Force leadership across the National Capital Region, 76 Geographically Separated Units, and 10 Major Commands. The AF/JA FOA Commander Support Staff (CSS) is functionally responsible for providing direct support to The Judge Advocate General (a Three Star), AF/JA FOA Commander, AF/JA Section Commander, AF/JA FOA First Sergeant and associated Directors. The AF/JA FOA requires contract support for a personnelist that will manage military personnel programs and oversee all CSS operations to ensure all applicable tasks are accomplished. The CSS is responsible for a variety of military and civilian personnel programs affecting the health, morale and welfare of assigned personnel. The CSS serves as the conduit between assigned personnel, the commander, directors, and various base agencies.

1.2 Scope. The CSS responsibilities are outlined in Table F1 of the Commander's Support Staff Personnel Services Delivery (PSD) Guide which are at attachment 1 of this document. The civilian military personnelist will provide direct support to the Judge Advocate General, Commander, Directors, Senior Enlisted Leaders, and Section Commander. The contractor will utilize all Air Force personnel systems to serve the four Directorates of the Air Force JAG Corps. The contractor will manage personnel programs, oversee personnel activities and functions, and perform data analysis, personnel actions, and CSS personnel functions. The contract will be for one base year with two option years.

1.3 Background. Currently, the AF/JA FOA CSS has one personnelist that services close to 1,200 personnel, both military and civilian. A prior inspection done by the Air Force Inspection Agency (DAFIA) noted that the CSS was undermanned and unable to perform many of its core functions. DAFIA personnel noted that the CSS manpower resources require a review to ensure they are appropriately aligned to effectively and efficiently accomplish the FOA's mission. A contact personnelist would permit the necessary assistance to the section and FOA, which, as stated above, is currently not staffed to provide required customer service to Headquarters JA and AF/JA FOA staff.
