PART 5 SPECIFIC TASKS

5. SPECIFIC TASKS:

5.1. Basic Services. The Contractor shall provide enterprise occupation structure and standards development support to OUSD(I&S) HCMO. Specifically, the Contractor shall provide on-site support to develop, validate, and implement an occupation structure and standards for (1) intelligence, (2) security, and (3) law enforcement work roles. These occupations will be addressed sequentially, with the first priority the development of the Defense Intelligence Workforce Framework (DIWF) to define the full range of work roles that perform the Defense intelligence mission across components in the DISE.

The contractor will develop: (1) up to 60 work roles aligned to four (4) areas of intelligence work; (2) up to 15 work roles aligned to security work; and (3) up to 15 work roles aligned to law enforcement through a rigorous job analysis process that is consistent with DIWF work role development standards and professional and legal standards (e.g., EEOC UGESP, 1978; SIOP Principles, 2018).

Based on the project timeline, this will require focusing on two or more areas of intelligence work at the same time during the initial project timeline and then beginning tasks focused on security and law enforcement work roles in later years. This support will be accomplished by performing the following tasks:

5.2. Intelligence Occupational Taxonomy and Job Analysis Support. The Contractor shall:

5.2.1 Develop a project plan in accordance with the DIWF work role development standards (to be provided at start of contract).

5.2.2 Develop SME communications and coordinate and schedule job analysis activities (e.g., pre-work activities and read-ahead documents, interviews, focus groups, and workshops) with SMEs.

5.2.3 Review background information and conduct one-hour interviews/job observations to gather information on relevant areas of work.

5.2.4 Provide technical support to the development of a work role taxonomy for each occupation (intelligence, security, and law enforcement), based on background information, job observations/interviews, and subsequent SME focus groups/workshops at least biannually.

5.2.5 For each work role, prepare and analyze pre-work activities, prepare focus group/workshop content, and facilitate and document three to four (3 to 4) virtual SME sessions with participants from across DIE Components on the classified network to develop primary work role content, including a work role description, tasks, up to 10 to 12 technical competencies, and associated knowledge, skills, and abilities. Work role sessions will occur at least three days per week during relevant phase of the project.

5.2.6 Develop, administer, and analyze job analysis questionnaire for each work role, including designing, populating, and testing functionality on relevant platforms (e.g., SIPR, JWICS) and analyzing job analysis data using RStudio at least biannually.

5.3 Define Competency Requirements and Work Role Minimum Qualifications. The Contractor shall:

5.3.1 Prepare pre-work activities, analyze pre-work responses, prepare SME session materials, and conduct and document virtual SME sessions to define additional requirements for each technical competency that is validated through the job analysis, including 1) behavioral indicators at four levels of proficiency (basic, intermediate, advanced, expert); 2) the proficiency needed for each technical competency at each Defense Civilian Intelligence Personnel System (DCIPS) work level (DoDI 1400.25-V2007, April 17, 2012); and 3) technical competencies needed at entry at each DCIPS work level. It is expected that two to three (2 to 3) SME sessions per work role will be conducted to define the competency requirements.

5.3.2 Prepare pre-work activities, analyze pre-work responses, prepare SME session materials, and conduct virtual SME sessions to develop minimum qualifications for each work role (i.e., the minimum education/training and/or experience requirements needed to be minimally qualified for the work). It is expected that one to two (1 to 2) SME sessions will be conducted for each work role to develop minimum qualifications.

5.4. Reports and Data Files:

5.4.1 At the completion of work role development, develop and deliver a technical report (a total of six reports) to document the development and validation of the work roles and associated requirements (Tasks 5.2, 5.3), including the results of the job analyses and SME sessions, competency requirements, and minimum qualifications.
